

Known Limitations of National Instruments Support

C++test does not support the following:

- initialize variables in the initialization of a for loop
- access to variables outside of a for loop if they are declared in the initialization of the for loop

The following are supported in Microsoft mode, but not in C++test:

- referencing fields from anonymous structs
- type sizes of anonymous structs